POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

Organized labor has become so badly disorganized in California, due to jurisdictional disputes, unpopular strikes and growing dissatisfaction on the part of union membership with union leadership, that the chorus of discord is threatening serious impairment of labor's political power and prestige at next year's state elections.

Labor support — once considered a "must" for any important political candidate— has become such a two-edged sword, according to experienced politicos, that major aspirants for Governor next year may avoid direct labor endorsements like a plague.

Although publicly silent, both Democratic and Republican leaders admit, privately that they are advising their candidates to fight shy of labor tie-ups at this time, as the support of one group means almost the certain enmity and opposition of the other.

Added to this headache is the fact that unwarranted strikes, both in defense and civilian industries, have aroused public resentment to a point where it is questionable, in the opinion of party leaders, whether a man tagged as a labor candidate could be elected to any statewide office. In rural California, for example, the voters would probably wait for such a candidate with a shotgun.

Even in labor-dominated city districts, the value of the union label—on a candidate—is debatable, as candidates are usually picked by union leaders, rather than by vote of the membership. And union members, in many branches of labor, are balking at their present leadership, due to strike calls with which they were unsympathetic and to the constant bickering between rival bosses for control over their affairs. A case in point is the current San Francisco hotel strike. The hotel employees have never been asked whether they wanted to strike. Many of them have joined and paid dues to as many as three separate unions in an effort to keep their jobs and avoid friction, but the hotel strike was called regardless.

At this writing, it appears that many of the hotel workers will disregard the strike call and elect to stay at work which will be a bad jolt to their leaders. And a union boss who can't control the members of his union on strictly labor matters isn't likely to be taken too seriously when he agrees to "deliver" them to a certain candidate on election day.

Unless something is done to clear the atmosphere, 1942 promises to be a year which will try the souls of both politicians and labor leaders. For organized labor, instead of being organized, is split seven ways from center—and candidates for public office don't like that kind of a split!

LAST RITES FOR GEORGE MEDLOCK MONDAY MORNING

George W. Medlock of San Jose entered into rest Saturday morning at O'Connor sanitarium after an extended illness.

Born in San Francisco 42 years ago, he had lived in San Jose for the past 25 years, where he was a member of the Electrical Workers' Union.

He was married to Marie Purmort, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark E. Purmort of Campbell, and they had one daughter, Barbara Clare Medlock.

Other near relatives who mourn his early death are his mother, Mrs. Martha Suess of San Jose, and two brothers, Joseph Hamilton of Santa Clara and Harvey Hamilton of Dundee, Ill.

Funeral services were held Monday morning from the Roger Darling garden chapel, with the Rev. J. J. Pardee of Campbell, a life long friend of Mrs. Medlock, officiating. Interment was in Oak Hill Memorial park.

HIGH SCHOOL CONTINUES RAPID GROWTH

The Campbell Union High School continued its phenomenal rate of growth as nearly eight hundred students returned for the 1941-42 session and seventy-five more signified their intention to enroll within the next week as the fruit harvest reaches its conclusion.

The new dual system of classes, with one group attending from 8:00 till 2:30, and another from 9:00 till 3:30, has proven very successful in relieving overcrowded conditions which previously existed in many of the classes.

The science department has been enriched by the addition of a new class in life science; a new class in landscape gardening has been started, and the English department has been improved by a new up-to-the-minute course called communications. An electric welding outfit has been added to the equipment in the new shop building.

Spartans Open With Texas A. & I. Friday

San Jose State college opens its football season tomorrow (Friday) night with a game between the Spartans and the Texas A. and I. This is the only team that defeated the Spartans in two years.

Stanford's initial game will be on Saturday, the 27th, with the University of Oregon in the Stanford stadium.

COUNTY FAIR, OCT. 7-12

WOMAN'S CLUB TO OPEN SEASON NEXT MONDAY

The Country Woman's club will open its club year on Monday, Sept. 22, with a patriotic luncheon honoring past presidents of the group. Luncheon will be served by the board members at 1:00 in the club rooms of the library.

Mrs. George E. Jeffers will be chief hostess of the day. The committee of directors is as follows: Mrs. J. D. Blaine, Mrs. Ellis Crane, Mrs. E. H. Farnham, Mrs. H. W. Jensen, Mrs. J. O. Leverton, Mrs. W. R. Morgan, Mrs. W. H. Van Dyke, and Mrs. A. W. Wellington.

Past presidents to be honored at this occasion are the Mesdames E. I. Price, A. N. Aitkin, E. Janes, E. R. Smith, Lillie F. Shaw, E. R. Kennedy, Ralston Alison, L. J. Carboni, D. H. Cramer, M. E. Purmort, H. C. Smith, C. H. Whitman, R. H. Hyde, F. L. Howes, W. R. Morgan.

Richard Morton of Campbell and the University of Santa Clara will speak on the topic "What Does the United States Mean to You?"

The club chorus will sing several selections under the leadership of C. P. Klassen. Mrs. Virginia Rutherford will be the accompanist.

All members are urged to attend this first meeting of the club year. Reservations should be made at once with Mrs. H. W. Jensen or Mrs. W. H. Van Dyke.

Services for Bozo Svago Were Held Saturday

Funeral rites were held last Saturday for Bozo Svago of Campbell, who passed away Thursday. Services were held at St. Martin's church and interment was in Santa Clara Catholic cemetary.

Deceased was a native of Vodovaja, Dalmatia, Jugoslavia, and was 65 years of age.

Surviving relatives in this country are his wife, Stella Svago and brothers, Nick Svago of Truckee, and Mike Svago of Mayfield.

110's, 120's Begin Hoop Practice

Basketball practice in the 110 and 120 leagues will begin at Campbell Union High school tomorrow (Friday).

About 40 boys have signed up for the two teams so far and bid fair to add another to the long series of championships won by teams under the tutelage of Coach Ralph Noddin.

T. L. Mendel of Palo Alto, formerly of Campbell, was calling on acquaintances here Tuesday.

OPENING GRID TILT OCTOBER 3 AT GILROY

The football season is here once more, with Campbell High school playing its first game at Gilroy on Oct. 3.

There was a turnout of 55 boys, one of the largest in the history of Campbell High. One reason for this large turnout is the fact that there will be a freshmen-sophomore team, limited to boys under 15 years of age.

Although suffering from a loss of 14 seniors, Coach Herbert Hudson looks forward to a successful season for his varsity. He bases his optimism upon the many experienced reserves returning from last years team to fill the gaps left by graduation.

Coach Hudson is assisted by Harold Drummond, who is in charge of the backfield. He agrees with Hudson in predicting that the team will be right near the top when the season closes.

The backfield looks promising with Jacobson, Chaboya, Hartley, Garcia and Di Salvo returning from last years team. In their first year out Parker, Benech, Lincoln, Cukar, Armetta, Koerner, Carvelho, Fox and Hall are giving the experienced players a fight for first string births.

The line is made up of Evara, Breeden and Tonkins fighting for the left end position. Galbraith, Faria, Prestijiacomo and Vick are out for left guard. Porter, Cushman and Burdick are the centers, with Rawlings and Hollingshead taking care of the left tackle position. The right end of the line will be supported by McCorckle, Malvini, and Linden, guards; Wilson, Kirkich ,and Mondo, tackles; and Wheeler, Iwagaki and Batinich, ends.

PTA GARDEN PARTY EVENT OF TOMORROW

Plans are being completed for the garden party sponsored by the Campbell Union High School P.-T. A., at the home of Mrs. F. R. Rambo, on Stevens Creek road, Friday, Sept. 19, at 1:30 p. m.

Reservations for either whist or bridge should be made with Mrs. Clarence Fa-Galde, Mrs. Anthony Jurras or any member of the executive board. Door prizes will be given and refreshments will be served.

Proceeds from the party will be used toward the regular budget and to assist in the health department of the high school .

Several large contracts for canned goods were awarded last week by the quartermaster supply officer at the San Francisco general depot at Fort Mason. One of these was to the Drew Canning company of Campbell for $17,500 worth of canned peaches.

SINGING FOR HOMEFOLKS

Stephen F. Merrill former Atwater Kent winner who appears in a program of requested songs in the Campbell Grammar school auditorium Wednesday evening, October 1, 1941, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Stephen Merrill will be his accompanist.

LOCAL GRAMMAR SCHOOL CROWDED AS 920 REGISTER

The Bible admonition of "good peasure, pressed down and running over" is applicable to the situation at the Campbell Grammar school, where Monday 892 students enrolled with more coming in every day so that yesterday there was a total of 920 and others coming as fast as prune harvest is over.

Classes are necessarily too large, averaging 40, with one having 68. A maximum of 35 is recommended by the state department of education.

The overflow is being placed in the corridor, and the old shop building is being arranged to house some 70 odd. Another new teacher will be added to the 29 already employed, Ira Abbott, principal stated.

ADULT CLASSES TO START SOON

Classes in almost every department of school will be available to adults at the Campbell Union High school shortly after Oct. 1, according to Principal W. H. Van Dyke.

Among the more popular classes in the past have been physical education, choir,typing, handicraft, Americanization, and shop. A complete list of classes will be announced in the near future.

An enrollment of at least twelve will be required in each class, as in the past, in order to make the class self-supporting so far as the local district is concerned.

CLUB OBSERVES LAST LADIES' NIGHT TUESDAY

The concluding meeting of the summer series of ladies' nights was enjoyed Tuesday evening by Kiwanis members and ladies.

In recognition of Constitution Week President Joseph V. Gomes had requested W. H. Van Dyke to read the preamble to the Constitution, in conjunction with the salute to the flag and singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

Kenneth McDonnell, the new instrumental instructor at the high school played three delightful clarinet solos, with Mrs. Virginia Rutherford accompanist. His selections were "Hymn to the Sun" (Rimsky-Korsolov), "Polka Brilliante," (Strong) and "The Old Refrain" (Kreisler) which were greatly enjoyed.

Cecil Poole of the San Jose speakers bureau was introduced, who clearly and concisely spoke in behalf of the coming county fair and urging its support. He was accompanied by Dottie Gay McCormack and Daphne Dutton who very gracefully interpreted an authentic Hawaiian dance, Malihini Mele, followed by a comedy dance of the same people "The Cockeyed Mayor."

Miss Barbara Davis, teacher of languages at the Campbell High school who had spent the summer in the Hawaiian Islands gave, what many remarked, was the most complete and intimately enlightening description of the island group which they had heard. Her visit covered more of the islands than many tourists have time to do and her memories seem more vivid.

In addition to member's wives other guests were Miss Davis, Miss Florence Smith, Mr. and Mrs. McDonnell, Mr. and Mrs. George Jeffers, Mrs. Mary J. Palmer and Mrs. H. C. Smith.

Next week Herbert Hudson and Harold Drummond of the boys' physical education department of the Campbell Union High school will discus football prospects for this season and Willard H. Van Dyke will emcee.

Local Girls to Attend Stanford

The Misses Jeraldine Jurras and Verna Coonradt will leave Saturday for Stanford University for registration Monday. Both young ladies are graduates of Campbell High school and San Jose State college and are entering Stanford to do graduate work for masters degrees.

Miss Coonradt is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Coonradt, Rte. 3, Box 365, Los Gatos and Miss Jurras of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Jurras, Stevens Creek road.

"IMPREGNABLE" FOR HOW LONG?

The United States is absolutely impregnable to invasion from the sea, declares an unequivocal statement from Army General Staff member Lieutenant Colonel Thomas R. Phillips. The modern bomber has made it so.

Even if the United States had no harbor defenses and even if its navy were inferior to that of an invading force, its land-based air power would still afford it impregnability to sea invasion. Thus reads the General Staff announcement hailed as the "most important military facts to be deduced from the European war."

As rank amateurs in the field of military strategy, we must be content to leave the matter in the hands of the army, navy and air corps chiefs who must know what they're talking about. We certainly hope that the Lieutenant Colonel is correct in his important finding. We don't believe the men who have this nation's defenses as their prime responsibility are going to leave any loop-holes unprotected against possible enemies.

But we can't help remembering that the Maginot Line promised to make France impregnable. That Gibralter was considered impregnable once. That while Britain, further fortifying it against assault, still believes it is, Germany thinks otherwise. Time and a Nazi attack will tell.

When a country thinks it has perfected the weapon to silence all other weapons or prepared the defense to stop all comers, somebody else devises a deadlier weapon yet, or a way of cracking "impregnable" defenses wide open.

The layman can know little about weapons or war strategies. He can only hope that while locking the storm shutters against possible sea invasion the military men will leave no gates ajar in any other phase of practical defense.

CALIFORNIA LEADS AGAIN

Just as California is leading all other states in national defense expenditures and contract awards, California is also leading all other states in defense organization.

According to announcement by Governor Olson, civil preparedness is farther ahead here than anywhere else in the nation. Forty-eight of the 58 counties have established defense councils and all but four of the 26 counties over 25,000 population have set up local organizations to study their own peculiar problems in relation to the statewide program.

Many smaller communities have organized their own municipal defense councils in cooperation with county activities. A general voluntary registration of civilians for defense duties may come later, says the State Defense Council, announcing the near completion of a tremendous statewide aircraft warning system.

There are those who insist that when vital public decisions are to be made, democracies, because of their very nature, must idle along at half-speed, arguing and declaiming, until danger's right on the doorstep.

California, however, seems to be doing pretty well on all scores in her defense effort, with the wheels turning efficiently in most quarters and the general populace doing whatever it's asked to do to insure a practical, coordinated program. And despite this state's apparent leadership in various phases of defense, we haven't noted any particular loss of liberty or equality in the process so far.

THE RIGHT TO DO BUSINESS

Of recent days we have permitted some very careless and grossly unfair distinctions to be drawn in this country as between classes of workers. In the broad sense, whether we own a business, or report for work at another man's farm or factory, we are all workers. One man works with his brawn and brain. The other man works with his brawn, brain and savings. That's the only real difference. But for some strange reason, in our desire to be fair to the hired man, we have recently come to the point where it is seemingly popular to discriminate against the man who hires him.

In San Francisco, at the moment, the owners of the city's leading hotels, who work at the job of providing food and shelter for their guests, and who invest their capital as well as their energy in doing it, are told by union organizers that they must take union dictation without question or redress. The union propose to run the hotels from the hiring hall; the hotel owners will simply have the right to pay the bills as long as they can afford it. And because these workers—hotel owners—refuse to work under such conditions, their establishments are picketed.

We are glad the hotelmen are insisting on their right to work—and are keeping right on with their business. It's high time that business men started fighting for their rights as workers!

WHY OWN A HOME?

In any family gathering, you can get an argument on the subject of home ownership. There are those who argue that "It's cheaper to pay rent than own a home." There are always others who argue the merits of owning your own home.

Glenn D. Willaman, indefatigable secretary of the California Real Estate association, who believes in home ownership and argues it twelve months a year, turned up this week with "twenty important things a man gets when he owns a home—and doesn't get when he rents." We offer them to you for your own appraisal; they follow:

Financial independence, security, a cash equity, credit, social background, play place for children, development of responsibility, interest in civic and municipal affairs, chance for individual expression, permanent environment, habits of thrift, healthful exercise, character development, independence of way of life, savings, beautiful furnishings, no restrictions on size of family, pets, possible income, and peace of mind.

A PROTEST ON THE PRESS

Vichy has just entered a protest with the United States government criticizing the anti-Vichy attitude of the American press. Whether the charge is true or not—and it would not be surprising if it were—it reveals a grave misunderstanding. Unlike stricken France, or other authoritarian countries, the government of the United States does not dictate what newspapers should print, censor their copy nor demand that the editors' attitude toward Vichy, or any other government, shall be thus-and-so. Other nations may object, but we like the custom. It's an old and precious right that goes by the name of freedom of the press.

BOMBS OVER BRITAIN

Adding up a dollars-and-cents toll of bombing damage inflicted upon England during the past two years of war, British financial experts fix the total at $480 million. Older buildings and dwellings suffered more damage than modern structures, a fact which has caused economist J. M. Keynes to comment cheerfully, "Damage of this kind is an opportunity for intelligent, planned reconstruction." And damage to morale, we'd say, was zero.

Governor Sets Newspaper Week

Governor Olson called on the state today to join the rest of the nation in observing newspaper week, Oct. 1 to 8, in recognition, he said, of the duty of the press in the present emergency and its post-war responsibilities.

"American civil liberties, including freedom of the press guaranteed by our constitution, are the bulwarks of American democracy," the governor's proclamation said.

"Upon the newspapers of our state and nation rest the grave responsibility of faithfully reporting current events and disseminating factual information in order that their readers may be truthfully informed and that none shall be misled in the performance of his duties of citizenship."

A new name was added to the census rolls of Campbell last week with the birth of Jeffry James Ammon on Sept. 9 at San Jose hospital. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. William A. Ammon, Empey Way, off Infirmary road.

THE BOOK MARK

by marty

"Kings Row," by Henry Bellamann.

Ah, dear readers, you envy me I know, because I am a book mark. I am in an enviable position. Book after book, I go through. Not alone do I enjoy the books but also I enjoy the readers' reactions. And O, what fun!

This week past, I found myself within the pages of Henry Bellamann's book, "Kings Row." Now, Kings Row is the name of a town in the midwestern states, and this story is of two decades in the life of this little city. The leading characters are Parris Mitchell and Drake McHugh. These boys are both orphans. Parris lived with his grandmother, a wealthy and influential widow, while Drake was brought up by his aunt and uncle, who likewise were well-to-do and held an enviable position in the social circle of Kings Row.

No town is anything within itself; it's the people who live in the town, their struggles and trials, their triumphs and defeats, that give life and character to the place. This book concerns the effects that various inhabitants had on the lives of Parris and Drake.

Though different in temperament, different in emotions as white is from black, these two boys' loyalty to each other endured through years, through years of carefree childhood, years of not knowing what it meant to want for a thing, years of financial losses and deep tragedy. Drake, after finishing high school, stayed on in Kings Row and struggled to rebuild the town into a modern city, while Parris went to Vienna to study medicine. It was when Drake lost his money, reputation and friends that Parris proved his great love for his friend by coming home to help him regain his faith in himself.

There is love, there is hate, there is cruelty few people have ever imagined could happen, all taking part in the making of this town. Clothed in mystery and awe are Dr. Towner, a brilliant physician and his beautiful daughter. Hovering about is Dr. Gordon, practicing his concealed sadism. The district attorney, the gravedigger, with his peculiar ways, and many others stalk through the tale and seal their link in the chain of human events.

Parris Mitchell, endowed with strength and idealism from his pioneer borebearers fought through hatred and cruelty and paid for his victory with loneliness, but it was a great triumph.

A book mark's heart, to you dear readers, may not seem real, but believe me I have a heart and I loved and lived and wept and laughed with the hero of this story. I can't say that about very many books that I am put into.

If you wish to read something entirely aside from war, Kings Row will be the book you are looking for. It's human. It has suspense and it has character. A book that has character is a book to know.

What Campbell is reading: "Keys of the Kingdom" by A. J. Cronin; "Berlin Diary" by William L. Shirer; "The Sun Is My Undoing" by Marguerite Steen; "No Life For A Lady" by Agnes Morley Cleaveland; "A Thousand Shall Fall" by Hans Habe.

Film, Lecture On "Singapore" to Be Shown In S.F.

An extraordinary color film of "Singapore," a pictorial lecture on the polyglot city at the crossroads of the world, personally made by Joe Fisher, Oriental theater magnate and owner of the famed Capital theater in Singapore (known throughout the Far East as "Singapore Joe,") will be shown at the Veteran's auditorium, under Town Hall auspices, with personal running comment by Mr. Fisher as the film unrolls, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 18-19-20 at 8:15 p. m. Special matinee on Saturday, Sept. 20 at 2:30 p. m.

With Singapore occupying the eastern spotlight at this time, the picture is a timely one. Shown are the British defenses, the Royal Navy and exciting glimpses of the native Malayans training for civilian defense.

Much of the picture was made from an Imperial Airways flying boat and takes in scenes where headline news is daily happening. There are also rare shots of the Burma road, Thailand, the Dutch East Indies and the gigantic war efforts that are being made in this part of the world, the strategic bases and armed defenses.

The strange and mysterious world of many races and religions, beauty and savagery ,is excitingly pictured.

Tickets are now on sale at Town Hall Headquarters, Clift Hotel, San Francisco, Prospect 4700.

Reception for Baldwins to be Held Sept. 26

The ladies of the Methodist church are planning a reception for the Rev. and Mrs. Donald Baldwin to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Cramer. The date has been set for Friday, Sept. 26, afternoon from 3 to 5 and evening, 7:30 to 9:30.

An invitation is extended not only to members and friends in the Methodist congregation but to those of the Congregational church, and other interested residents of the community .

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sabin who were noted last week as guests of Mrs. Sabin's sister, Mrs. Stella Swenson, are planning extensive sightseeing on their return to their home in Shreveport, La., where he will resume his position in the city's employ, a post he has held for 23 years. They plan visits at Los Angeles and San Diego and then will travel in Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Coad leave Saturday for Antioch where they will attend the wedding of their son, Walter, Jr. They will then take a trip up the coast to Klamath for the remainder of his two weeks vacation.

Brother of Local Residents Called By Death Tuesday

Dr. Guy Brown Husted passed away in Modesto Tuesday evening and last rites are being held today, this morning at 11 o'clock from the Shannon undertaking parlors in Modesto and at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the graveside in the Madronia cemetery in Saratoga, with Rev. J. H. Bennett conducting the latter service.

Deceased was the second of eight children born to L. B. and Frances Husted, five of whom are surviving, Ralph A. Husted of Saratoga, George L. Husted of Campbell, Mrs. Katherine Shadle and Mrs. Maud L. Hyde of Campbell and Mrs. Grace Miller of Los Gatos, and two others who preceded him in death, Frederick R. Husted and Blanche H. Chilton of San Jose. He is also survived by his wife Henrietta Husted.

Guy Husted was born, Dec. 5, 1871, and after grammar school days, attended the College of Pacific and then graduated in 1897 from the dental department of the University of California.

He went to Modesto to begin his dental practice and continued there as a very popular dentist and citizen.

He was a member of the Exchange club, of the Elks, and the Odd Fellows, and and just received a forty year pin from the I. O. O. F. lodge of Modesto.

Miss Ruby Crow who had made her home in San Jose for some time has moved back to Campbell to be with her mother, Mrs. Flora Crow. She is using her two weeks vacation practicing driving so that she can commute by auto.

Herold Morton is proudly displaying a deer head which he will have mounted. He shot the buck Sunday in the Santa Cruz mountains on the Ellison ranch.

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR

Executive Secretary Agricultural Council of California

The truth will out!

But in this era of high-pressure propaganda and "false front" organizations, unfortunately, the truth is often delayed in transit—and comes to light long after the damage has been done by half-truths and flagrant misrepresentation.

Currently, the veil has been lifted, at least in part, on the Simon Lubin Society of California, Inc., which has long belabored California farm groups and sought to rally farm people to its left-wing standard.

The truth comes out in this fashion:

The Rural Observer, an asserted farm periodical published by the Lubin Society, announces that it has been forced to suspend publication for lack of support. In a letter to subscribers it says it is unable to refund their money, but offers instead to send them copies of The People's World, daily Communist paper.

The letter to subscribers sent out by the defunct Rural Observer advises them that The People's World is "definitely a left-wing publication," but asserts that it is "the only newspaper of general circulation independent of the vested interests which control California—therefore, the only paper which can be expected to tell the truth about the problems confronting California farmers."

Inasmuch as The People's World is a Communist organ devoted to stirring up class hatred and spreading Communist propaganda, its version of "the truth about the problems confronting California farmers" is likely to have a definite Moscow flavor. In the Soviet, of course ,there is no such thing as private ownership of land and farmers are both tenants and vassals of the state. The People's World, while it has had difficulty in sellin gthat kind of a program to California farmers, has other strings to its bow. For the past year or two, it has devoted much space to advocating complete unionization of farm labor and to bitterly berating farmers as "Tory land barons and labor-baiters."

The People's World, however, is neither new nor particularly interesting. The interesting thing is that the Simon J. Lubin Society, when forced to suspend its Rural Observer, should openly recommend a Communist publication to its followers.

The claim that the Communist paper is the only newspaper in California free from control of the "vested interests" is just sheer tommyrot and deceives no one. The truth of the matter is that the Lubin Society has drifted so far to the left that its principles and objectives read like they were taken from the Communist Party platform. It is the Lubin Society which is out of step—not the California press. And it is to the credit of California farmers that the Rural Observer died on the vine for lack of support.

California farmers have been forced to stand for a great deal of abuse from parlor pinks and revolutionary dreamers. Most of the criticism, however, has come from persons with no practical knowledge of farming and no sympathy with the farming industry. In many instances, such attacks on farm groups and farm people have been carried on by "false front" organizations, with an air of respectability, but actually financed and controlled by the Communist Party.

Gradually, the truth comes to light about many or these organizations, just as the Simon Lubin Society let the cat out of the bag when it suspended its own publication and recommended to its readers the Communist daily newspaper. It is only unfortunate that thousands of persons who have been influenced by the preachments of such organizations could not have known the nature and inspiration of the propaganda at the time they read it.

Ruth Matteson Stars In "The Male Animal"

Miss Ruth Matteson, who was a former resident of Campbell, living on the San Jose-Los Gatos highway and attending the local high high school ,is now in San Francisco where she is starring in the production of "The Male Animal."

The San Francisco Chronicle of Sunday, Sept. 14, contains a long article about Miss Matteson, which is very complimentary, only that Los Gatos is credited as her home town, while Campbell still claims her as the family home is on this rural route and her girlhood friends are here.

Miss Matteson is appearing in her original Broadway role, playing opposite Otto Kruger.

She started her theatrical career in San Francisco under Henry Duffy and then went east and without any of the usual delays and heartbreaks attending an aspirant to Broadway was given a part in "Parnell," from which time she has appeared in many fine productions.

Mrs. Frank Anderson and Mrs. Robert Weaver who went up to San Francisco to witness the play were enthusiastic in her praise.

COUNTY FAIR, OCT. 7-12

Mrs. Frank Anderson and Mrs. Robert Weaver witnessed the performance of Ruth Matteson and Otto Kruger in "The Male Animal" at the Alcazar theater in San Francisco Friday evening.

Philip Robson enjoyed a Monday to Sunday visit last week at the F. O. Bohnett home in Santa Barbara. He accompanied Joe Bohnett who had been attending a fraternity meeting in San Jose. Joe has enrolled at U. C. L. A. for the coming year. Tom had just returned from Yellowstone Park where he had been employed during the summer.

Miss Ruby Williamson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Williamson of North Second street, who taught in the Shafter schools last year, is now one of the grammar school faculty of Sunnyvale.

We are pleased to report that Prof. Joseph Halamicek who has been quite ill for several weeks is improving and able to be about the house and yard.

Mrs. William Coupland who suffered a serious heart attack some time ago is now sitting up most of the day and is welcoming short calls from friends.

Miss Laura Blaine is returning to Gilroy this weekend to resume her duties as a teacher in the city schools.
